

Applied Research in Economic Development

2007 Volume 4, Number 1 Contents

| Features | Page |
|---|-------------|
| Perspectives on Applied Research in Economic Development Mark M. Miller, Editor | 2 |
| The Changing Mountain West: An Overview of Issues Shaping One of America's Fastest Growing Regions Mark White | 4 |
| Issue Theme: Technology-Based Economic Development | |
| Perspectives on the Theme from the Guest Editor Ken Malone | 20 |
| A New Direction for Technology-Based Economic Development: The Role of Innovation Intermediaries Richard A. Bendis, Richard S. Seline, and Ethan J. Byler | 22 |
| What Makes a Technology Cluster Tick? The Region of Waterloo, One of the World's Top "Intelligent Communities" Doug Sparkes and Paul Guild | 37 |
| Using Technology to Enhance the Efficiency of Small Retail Establishments George Bugliarello, Michael Greenstein, and William B. Shore | 56 |
| Auckland, New Zealand: A Case Study in Regional Governance and Capacity Building for Innovation and Technology James Rowe | 63 |
| Regional Technology Councils as a Strategy for Community and Economic Development Brent Hales, Charles "Bubba" Weir, and Sylvia Goldman | 78 |
| Technology-Based Economic Development: Connecting the Research University and Community Leaders Juita-Elena Yusuf and Joseph L. Fink | 91 |
| Maximizing the Economic Development Impacts of University Spin-Offs Fred Pries | 102 |
| The ARED Case Study. Linking High Tech, the Arts and Affordable Housing: The Continuing Challenge of Success in Downtown Winston-Salem Ken Malone and Brian Richard | 112 |
| Information About ARED | |
| Call for papers | 124 |
| Subscription information | 125 |