

Article Review

Complete APA bibliographic reference:

Edmunds, A., & Noel, K. (2003). Literary precocity: An exceptional case among exceptional cases. Roeper Review, 25 (4), 185-194.

Three to five descriptor terms that best describe the topic:

Main: Reading, writing, gifted children, self-talk, ability

Type of Article:

Other: Case Study

Levels:

Kindergarten, Lower Elementary
(1-3)

Briefly stated major purpose(s) of the study:

This article examines Geoffrey, a prolific 5-year-old gifted studies writer. It explores his writing and how his intrapersonal factors and propitious environment contribute to his prodigious output.

Research article – summarize the major findings in 1- 4 sentences:

Geoffrey did more than learn to write; he engaged in a variety of reading, writing, and drawing endeavors that are interrelated expressive media. As he wrote more books, he became more sophisticated in his writing and story telling. The study outlined his progression as a young and gifted writer.