REQUIRED TEXT: Criminalistics: An Introduction to Forensic Science, 8th Edition, by Richard Saferstein, Prentiss Hall 2003, ISBN: 0131118528

COURSE OBJECTIVES: This course is intended to be an introductory course in the field of forensic science. Little or no prior knowledge of science will be assumed. Enough background information will be supplied in lecture and in the readings to enable the student to understand forensic field tests, laboratory procedures, and processing techniques. No forensic scientist is an expert in all the disciplines; they must specialize to be considered an expert. This course is intended to survey several disciplines to make the student aware of how large the field of forensic science is. Upon completion of this course, students should understand the potential value of forensic science and also the limitations.

DROP DATE: SEPTEMBER 1 is the last day to drop the course and receive a full refund. SEPTEMBER 30 is the last day to drop the course without academic penalty.

COURSE COMMUNICATION: Communication with students will be primarily during class. If there are any changes that arise in the syllabus or class schedule between class meetings, each student will be notified of the change via USM email. Therefore, it is given that each student is expected to have their USM email address active.

MAILING LIST/WEBSITE: A departmental mailing list has been set up for forensic science students. Please visit <https://mail.usm.edu/mailman/listinfo/forensics> to sign up if you have not already done so.
