

ENG 203: Folklore and the Literary Tradition

This course is a survey of selected works of traditional folklore and works of drama, poetry, and prose which exhibit folkloric influences from a variety of world literatures. Focus of the course is on the exploration of the contributions that folklore has made to great literature through the ages and the impact of folklore on our cultural environment.