

HIS 102

This course explores world systems from 1600 to the present, including the interplay of political, social, and economic events. Course material will include articles, lectures, videos, and walking field trips in the area.