

2009-2010 LIVE OAK WRITING PROJECT WORKSHOPS

Session I: Thinking and Writing with 6 Traits (Elementary level)

With the new state writing assessment, many teachers are looking for information about the 6 traits. Our three-session Saturday series includes how to use the 6 traits for immediate classroom application. Research-based strategies will be offered.

Topics include:

- Narrative writing strategies that are aligned with the state assessment
- Using literature to teach the traits
- How to teach grammar with the traits
- Teaching the reluctant writer
- DOK

Begins September 12, continues through September 26 and October 3

Location: Gulf Park Campus, Long Beach

Time: 9 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.

Registration Fee: $150.00 (prepaid with no refunds)

Deadline for registration is September 8.

Session II: Thinking and Assessing Writing with 6 Traits (Elementary level)

“Using rubrics well is an interactive, interpretive process, in which a teacher’s wisdom, insight, experience, and judgment play an important role.”
Vickie Spandel

How do I use the state rubric to assess writing in my classroom? Come join us as we interact with the state writing assessment rubric and interpret student writing. We will explore the language of the rubric and apply our knowledge to student papers. As the series ends, we will plan writing that is in alignment with the state assessment.

Begins January 30, continues through February 6 and February 27

Location: Gulf Park campus, Long Beach

Time: 9 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.

Registration fee: $150.00 (prepaid with no refunds)

Deadline for registration is January 26.
