Dear Campus Community:

The University of Southern Mississippi is committed to creating a safe community and assuring that the members of our community have the information necessary to respond to important issues.

In an effort to educate our community proactively, we have secured a series of online courses from our new training vendor, Traliant. Benefit eligible faculty and staff, part-time (temporary workers) [who will be receiving courses by 1/30/20] along with adjuncts and affiliates, have received emails from Traliant (beginning on 11/20/19) advising them that they have been enrolled in courses.

The first course will be the Title IX course.

The enrollment email will include a link necessary for access, and the system is accessible using SOAR credentials. Please complete the course by December 20th.

The full Compliance Course Descriptions and Release Schedule are available at the following link:

INSTITUTIONAL POLICY MANAGEMENT SYSTEM
To enhance policy management, we are also implementing the PolicyStat system and will retire the institutional policies website on 12/20. Those benefit-eligible faculty and staff, affiliates, adjuncts and part-time/temporary workers assigned the Title IX course will receive a request from PolicyStat to acknowledge review of the Title IX policies in January, 2020. Complying with this request is necessary for the Title IX course to be considered completed.

QUESTIONS
If you have any questions or concerns, please contact the Office of Compliance and Ethics by emailing compliance@usm.edu or calling 601.266.4466. Please note the course information is also available on the compliance training page accessible at the following site: https://www.usm.edu/compliance-ethics/training.php.

Thank you in advance for your time and cooperation.

Sincerely,

Robert Gholson
General Counsel
