About the Class: The three-weapon system update for firearms instructors will emphasize the integration and proficiency of pistol, rifle, and shotgun training to enhance tactical versatility and effectiveness in various scenarios. Instructors will focus on teaching proper techniques for transitioning between these platforms, including the advantages and limitations of each weapon type. The update will incorporate advanced drills that simulate real-world environments, encouraging students to develop situational awareness and quick decision-making skills. Additionally, the curriculum would cover maintenance, safety protocols, and ammunition selection to ensure students are well-equipped for their roles in law enforcement. Emphasis on legal considerations and ethical responsibilities of firearm usage would also be a key component of the training.

Instructor: Jason “Jabo” Long has been a law enforcement officer for 25 years. Eighteen of those years were spent on a full-time SWAT team in a major municipality where hundreds and hundreds of missions provided firsthand tactical experience. As a lead instructor for not only his team, but various other institutions, he brings real-world practical experience to combat firearms training. His is a phenomenal skill set as an instructor from attending numerous shooting schools to constantly update his individual abilities as an instructor to make sure he presents the best he can to the attendees in the TOSS classes.
