You are already a teacher’s assistant, which means you know what it takes to lead a classroom. You have probably thought about leading your own classroom someday, right?

At The University of Southern Mississippi, we want you to reach your fullest potential. To encourage and support teacher assistants to become licensed teachers, we created the innovative, fully online Teacher Assistant Program. It is a perfect fit for current teacher assistants who want to take the next step toward earning a Bachelor of Science degree and becoming a certified teacher.
WHAT MAKES THE TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM AT SOUTHERN MISS UNIQUE?

• Emphasis on integration of technology in teaching to engage students and improve student learning outcomes

• Strong literacy component that merits a reading endorsement for all graduates

• Focused clinical component that offers K-6 classroom experience throughout the Teacher Education Program

• Continuous NCATE accreditation since 1954

For more details about earning a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education through the Teacher Assistant Program, call The Department of Curriculum, Instruction and Special Education at 601.266.5247 or 228.214.3340.

You can also visit our website at www.usm.edu/elo/ug_teacherassistant.php.