The College of Health was the only business/organization to have as many as four recipients of the award.

For more information about the Health Care Heroes or the College of Health contact Ryan Kelly at 601.266.5103 or health@usm.edu.

Anatomies Gateway program director Lee Armstrong assists a client with an exercise bicycle during a workout.

Health Care Heroes honorees include, from left to right: Dr. Bonnie Harbaugh, Dr. Amal Mitra, Dr. Jerome Kolbo and Dr. Kathy Yadrick.

College of Health Faculty Honored by Mississippi Business Journal
By Ryan Kelly

Four faculty members in the College of Health at The University of Southern Mississippi have been honored as Health Care Heroes for 2011 by the Mississippi Business Journal.

Dr. Bonnie Harbaugh, associate professor in the School of Nursing; Dr. Jerome Kolbo, professor in the School of Social Work; Dr. Amal Mitra, professor in the Department of Community Health Sciences and Dr. Kathy Yadrick, chair of the Department of Nutrition and Food Systems were part of a class of 30 honored by the magazine.

Recipients were honored based upon their long-term excellence in academia and in benefiting the health profession through research and outreach for the betterment of Mississippi residents.

The Southern Miss College of Health was the only business/organization to have as many as four recipients of the award.

For more information about the Health Care Heroes or the College of Health contact Ryan Kelly at 601.266.5103 or health@usm.edu.

Anatomies Gateway program director Lee Armstrong assists a client with an exercise bicycle during a workout.

Southern Miss / Anatomies Partner to Form Fitness Referral Program
By Ryan Kelly

The University of Southern Mississippi’s School of Human Performance and Recreation has partnered with the Gateway Program at Anatomies of Hattiesburg on a cutting-edge fitness referral program designed to improve patient wellness.

College of Health Alumni Spotlight
Dwayne Redman, ‘85, ’87

Dwayne Redman, CCC-A, currently serves as the chief of audiology and speech pathology for Overton Brooks VA Medical Center in Shreveport, La. Mr. Redman has worked in the VA system for 26 years. In addition, he is the pastor of Egypt Hill Baptist Church in Plain Dealing, La. Mr. Redman has two degrees from Southern Miss: a BS in Audiology in 1985 and an MS in Audiology in 1987.
Capt. Andy Gilliam of the Salvation Army poses with students at the DuBard School for Language Disorders. (Submitted photo)

DuBard School Students Donate Canned Goods to Salvation Army

Students at the DuBard School for Language Disorders at The University of Southern Mississippi donated approximately 200 cans of food to the Salvation Army on Wednesday, Nov. 16.

The students were asked to donate healthy canned foods such as beans, corn and vegetables. The students also used the cans as make-shift weights in their physical education classes before donating them to the Salvation Army.

DuBard School Assistant Director Cornett Earns Prestigious Award

Daphne Cornett, assistant director of the DuBard School for Language Disorders at The University of Southern Mississippi, recently earned the 2011 IMSLEC® Innovator Award for Outstanding Educator in a College or University.

IMSLEC, the International Multisensory Structured Language Education Council, accredits training courses that utilize a multisensory structured language approach to teaching children with severe communication disorders, including dyslexia and specific learning disabilities.