

FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS WANTED

to participate in PAID research study!

What is the purpose of the study?

The goal of this study is to test the effectiveness of a new prevention program developed for incoming college students, LifeSkills Training for College. It includes online modules and in-person small group activities that teach skills necessary to cope with many challenges, including the transition to college, building healthy relationships, and preventing sexual violence, and substance use and abuse.

What does participation involve?

Complete a series of interactive e-learning modules; attend 3-4 in-person small group sessions (approximately 1 hour long) with other students; complete an online survey at 4 time points; and Receive $40 for participating in the study

How do I get involved?

Contact Dr. Nora Charles at nora.charles@usm.edu or (601) 266-4330.
You can also send her an email by scanning the QR code below.

LifeSkills Training
FOR COLLEGE