1. Scope of the Request

The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park Campus is seeking responses to a Request for Qualifications (RFQ) from student housing developers to create a development of approximately 150 beds of new student housing. This housing may or may not be developed on university owned property. The University is seeking developers with prior experience building student housing on or adjacent to college or university campuses using either or both of the following financial approaches: 1) public/private partnership (more commonly referred to as a ‘P3’ project); and 2) privately financed, constructed, and managed properties.

Ultimately, the selected developer will provide a turn-key project to include all services associated with the location, potential property acquisition, demolition, financing, design and construction of this student housing project, as well as facility management and operation.

Qualified firms should have experience in property acquisition, demolition, planning, design, construction, furnishing, and financing student housing on other college and university campuses, along with experience in managing and operating student housing on a college campus.

2. Process of Selection

All interested parties who intend to submit a response are asked to provide an Intent to Bid that is located under RFQ 18-06 on the USM Procurement Bid Calendar at https://www.usm.edu/procurement-contract-services/current-bid-opportunities. Final responses to this RFQ should be submitted no later than 2:00 PM CDT on Thursday, October 19, 2017.

If you are mailing your response package via U.S. Postal Service, mail to:

The University of Southern Mississippi
Procurement Services
118 College Drive #5003
Hattiesburg, MS 39406-0001
RFQ 18-06

If you are sending your response package via Federal Express or UPS, or any other delivery service which requires the use of a physical address, deliver to:
A. Upon receiving the responses, a university selection committee will review and potentially interview a select number of firms to reach a short list of 3-5 developers.

B. To qualify for selection, developers must provide examples of prior development experience for higher education clients, including:

   a. Project Type and Size. Development of a student housing project with 100-200 beds at a total cost of $6-10 million;
   b. Financial Approaches. Use of the following financing approaches to build student housing projects on the scale noted in the prior subsection:
      i. A P3 approach – in which revenues from the leases will cover the cost of the project (Developers should provide the term used for debt retirement as part of their response.)
      ii. An entirely privately financed project (i.e., developer buys land, constructs facility, and uses lease revenue to cover debt)
   c. Alternate Approaches. If a developer has the required experience noted in subsections (a) and (b) above and they also have knowledge and experience with additional financial approaches to support a housing project of this scale, they are welcome to submit this information. However, alternative approaches cannot be substituted for the required experience in subsections (a) and (b) above.

C. Upon receiving project approval from the Mississippi Institutions of Higher Learning, the short-listed firms will be asked to respond to a Request for Proposals (RFP) for the project.

D. A university committee will then select the developer based on their proposal, including any interviews, consistent with the criteria listed in the RFP, with the intent of arriving at a guaranteed maximum price for the project shortly after the design phase.

3. Campus Information

The Gulf Park campus of the University of Southern Mississippi, located in Long Beach, Mississippi, currently does not offer a housing option to students. In 2016, in anticipation of expected growth and increased demand, the University engaged the firm of MGT of America Consulting, LLC to conduct a housing demand analysis for this campus. The results of this study can be obtained upon request.

In addition, The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park campus recently completed a campus master plan and it can be found at the link below:
